PARADE WHILE SNOW IS FLYING

All Features of Celebration of Washington's Birthday Carried Out.

IMPOSING PAGEANT.

Nearly all the Community Appear on Streets With Thousands From Washington and Elsewhere.

The elements, while playing a frigid part in yesterday's festivities, in no way chilled the ardor of Alexandrians and the thousands of visitors to the city in celebrating the anniversary of the birth of Washington. Although the temperature was dropping toward the zero mark and snow was fying furiously, no feature of the procession which had been planned, was omitted, and all the organizations of the city as well as those from other places were in line, while the streets were blocked with humanity. The severe weather seemed to add pith to the celebration in honor of Washington, being suggestive of the pictures of the nocturnal crossing of the Delaware under conditions similar to those prevailing yesterday.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, the President of the United States, the Vice-President, the Governor of Virginia, Senators Representatives and others high in social life came to the city and mingled with the Alexandrians in the festivities, all seemingly realizing it was good for them to have been here on the occasion.

While there was considerable animation in the streets during the morning hours, it was increased an hundred fold early in the afternoon, and when bands and organizations began to move preliminary to the organization of the pageant on south Fairfax street, crowds quickly formed and the streets soon became blocked.

As the parade started to move a sea of humanity on the sidewalks moved with it and followed it in its windings over the entire line of maren.

The snow began to fall a short time after the parade had started.

An ovation was given Governor Henry C. Stuart, of Virginia, along the line of march. Riding with the governor were President F. F. Marbury, of the board of aldermen; Judge J. K. M. Norton, and O. H. Kirk, president of the George Washington Birthday Association.

The governor's escort was the famous Richmond Light Infantry Blues Battalion. They were in command of Major E. W. Bowles. With their attractive uniforms and big white plumes to their hats they made a fine appearance. Secretary of War Garrison and Assistant Secretary of Navy Roosevelt, also were in the parade.

Colonel Henry T. Allen was the chief marshal, with J. Y. Williams chief of staff and Lieutenant Conrad Johnson military aid. Others on the staff were C. J. Sullivan, aid of fire department; Dr. Llewellyn Powell, aid of civic division.

Capt. George K. Pickett and James Roberts, Jr., were chiefs of staff of the Fairfax county division, and James E. Clements, for Alexandria county. A platoon of police led the procession.

The First Regiment of Infantry, National Guard of the District of Columbia, and band, attracted much attention. The regiment was commanded by Col. Charles H. Ourand. The Naval Reserves of the District, Commander Joseph A. Dempf, with the Soldiers' Home Band, came next.

The first and second battalions of Virginia Infantry were accompanied by Capt. W. C. Peyton, Charlottesville. Companies included Alexandria Light Infantry, Capt. F. L. Slaymaker; Culpeper, Lieut. Newhouse; Charlottesville, First Lieut. Johnson; Fredericksburg, Capt. G. H. Harrison.

The regular army division was made up of troops from Fort Myer, Fort Washington, Fort Hunt and engineers from Washington Barracks. They were commanded by the following: Major A. A. Fries, Maj. Charles T. Summerall, and Maj. L. J. Fleming.

Fire companies of this city, a delegation from Washington, and the Potomac fire department comprised the second division, which was marshaled by Kenneth W. Ogden. R. E. Gronau, chief of the fire department, and Capt. R. M. Latham occupied a carriage, as did members of the fire committee of council.

The old Friendship Engine Company, organized in 1774, attracted considerable attention. In advance of it were President P. M. Bradshaw, Vice President M. R. Norris, James Javins, and others in carriages. Frank Pyles was driver of the engine.

The Relief hook and ladder was driven by John Clapdore. There were eight men on the apparatus, in command of First Lieut. John Webster.

Capt. Frank Heisley was in charge of the Potomac fire department.

The Columbia Fire Company had thirty-five men in line, in command of Capt. J. Frank Pettey and First Lieut. E. J. McDermott. The engine was driven by Henry Posey, and engineer Everett Rogers, was on the engine. The hose wagon was driven by W. L. Lyons. There was also a fancy reel.

With thirty men in line, in comeal. fiW cFve at- - arf raf rafr f mand of Capt. D. Grimes, the Reliance engine brought up the rear. The engine was driven by Julian Ballenger, with W. H. Bontz in charge of the engine and H. Lunsford driver of the hose wagon. The reserve fire engine also was in parade, with Engineer Noble Smith on it.

The third and last division was made up of fraternal organizations, including Uniformed Odd Fellows, marshaled by Capt. W. L. Martin; Seminole Tribe of Red Men, No. 1, this city, with float having children and Indian scene; Fraternal Order of Eagles, led by R. W. Travers, with two floats bearing mottoes of the order, one being a floral float; Virginia Lodge, No. 1076, Loyal Order of Moose, commanded by J. W. Varney, F. A. Wood, and D. G. Burner. The latter were accompanied by a big delegation from Washington, marshaled by L. D. Jacobs, of Columbia Lodge, No. 126.

Carrying red, white and blue umbrellas, the Order of Fraternal Americans, led by Fred W. Ebhardt and Neil Cary, came next. They had a float representing a public school house.

Last in this division were the Boy Scouts from Washington, commanded by Scoutmaster C. N. Filkins, of Troop 43.

A feature of the parade was the handsomely decorated reel of the Columbia Fire Engine Company, drawn by three Shetland ponies, driven by a boy in Indian costume. The reel was designed by J. Lucien Duffey, of the company. On it was a bust of Washington. The reel was in lavender and white, and in a scroll were the words "Columbia," suspended above which were white doves. At the corners were butterflies and in front vases filled with flowers. Flowers on the reel included wistaria, Easter lilies and white rosebuds. The American Indian Guard Band, in picturesque new suits, attracted much attention.

President Wilson and other distinguished guests stood in a glass-enclosed grand stand on Washington street, near Oronoco street, and viewed the pageant.

President Wilson, accompanied by Secretary Tumulty, and Dr. Cary Grayson, U. S. N., Representative Carlin, and Col. W. W. Harts, U. S. A., arrived on Sylph during the afternoon and embarked at the foot of Prince street. The party took an automobile and were whisked to the stand at 3:40 o'clock, and the parade started past the stand ten minutes later. It required exactly twenty-five minutes to pass.

Just as the last of the parade passed the stand there were cries of "Speech!" from a number of persons. Some over-zealous citizen wanted the glass removed so that the President might talk to the crowd. Mr. Wilson, however, did not make any address. He returned to the Sylph in an antomobile.

The President appeared greatly pleased at the float of the Alexandria High School, depicting the school in the days of George Washington. It showed a number of children in colonial dress and a teacher in the prevailing fashion of the day. Then came a float representing the schools of 1914. Following this were seventy-five school boys carrying American flags which they waved to the President, while he acknowledged the greeting with a bow and smile. The school children were headed by a party of high school boys, mounted, wearing sashes of blue and bluff.

One of the prettiest floats in the parade was that of the Eagles which was designed by Charles Kramer. It represented liberty, truth, justice and equality. Liberty was represented by Misses Lillian Allen. Little Miss Eberhardt, sat under a large liberty bell hung in a dome in the center of the float. Equality was represented by Mr. John Bayliss, of Linconia, Va., as a suffragette, pleading for woman's rights.

WOMAN KILLS MAN IN WASHINGTON

Alleges Victim Attempted to Use Knife Upon Her When She Shot.

HELD BY THE POLICE.

Charles A. Stevens, the dead Man, Was Proprietor of a Rooming House Where Woman Lived.

Washington, Feb. 24.—Charles A. Stevens, thirty years old. proprietor of a rooming house at 935 H street northwest, was shot to death during an altercation with Mae Vernon, alias Mae Stevens, at about 10 o'clock this morning. Sobbing bitterly, she told the police that Stevens tried to kill her with a butcher knife.

Three shots were fired by the woman, the police say. Two of them took effect. The woman was taken to police headquarters on the arrival of Captain Holinberger.

A slight cut on the side of the waman's neck was made by Steven's knife, the woman said. She was too hysterical to give an account of the shooting.

She remained at police headquarters more than an hour before the police were able to get the details of the affair.

According to occupants of the H. street residence the Vernon woman, formerly a resident of D street, in the heart of the tenderloin, had been friendly with Stevens for some months. Recently they had had several quarrels it is said. The woman told the police that on numerous occasions, Stevens had threatened her life.

"He came to my room this morning and told me he was going to kill me," the woman said. "He had a butcher knife. I tried to calm him, but he continued to threaten. Finally, he grabbed me with one hand and raised the knife in the air. I screamed for help, but no one answered. He slashed my neck, and I managed to break away from him. He followed me, and I grabbed a revolver and fired till he fell.''

When occupants of the building reached the room, they found the Vernon woman in hysterics. Stevens was on the floor with the knife near him. The woman made no effort to leave the building. One of the men called the George Washington University Hospital, and one of the physicians responded. Stevens was dead

In the meantime, the Emergency Hospital had been notified. Dr. Zinkham made a further examinatino .He found that one of the bullets had lodged in the neck and one in the head.

BEGINNING OF LENT.

Shrove Tuesday (Pancake Day)—Tomorrow Ash Wednesday.

Today is what is known in the calendar as Shrove Tuesday, and what is generaly observed as Pancake Day. Tomorrow, Ash Wednesday, will be the begining of Lent.

At Christ and St. Paul Episcopal Churches there will be services at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. At Grace Church Holy Communion will be celebrated at 7:30 o'clock, morning prayer and address at 10:30 o'clock and evening service at 7:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Mr. Burkhart, of Leesburg, will preach at Christ Church at 8 o'clock on Thursday night.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

M. B. Harlow and wife have sold to Karl Fuchs a house and lot at the triangle bounded by Prince, Commerce, and West streets. J. K. M. Norton and others, have sold to Harry D. Kirk three lots in the square bounded by Washington, Pendleton, Columbus and Oronoco streets.

Advises were received by the police officials this morning that a band of yeggmen robbed the depot of the Southern Railway, and the stores of Dr. Johnson and C. W. Wager, at Manassas last night.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Henry Moore Teller, who was Secretary of the Interior in President Arthur's Cabinet and for more than 30 years United States Senator from Colorado, died early yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. G. E. Tyler, in Denver. Senator Teller was 84 years old and had been ill two years.

When a boat containing nine persons upset and sank in West Fork River, in Roane county W. Va., yesterday three persons were drowned. The others were rescued with difficulty, and are suffering seriously as the result of being thrown into the icy stream.

A government troop train carrying a company of infantry from Mexico City, destined for Jalapa, was blown up on Saturday afternoon by rebels. The wreck occurred near the Lima station of the Interoceanic Railway, 140 miles from Vera Cruz. The explosion was terrific, and the entire train was demolished. All on board, including 55 officers and men, and the English engineer, were killed. A passenger train, which was following in the wake of the troop train was fired on by the rebels, but escaped by backing rapidly.

Designs painted on the cheeks are the latest barbarous eccentricity indulged in by Parisiennes, which is ousting the colored wigs. The fad now is to have the miniature work of art in the form of a bird, bug, lizard or what not, painted in natural colors on the cheek.

A pretty romance came to an abrupt end yesterday at Buckingham, Col., when the wedding of Miss Mary Hardy and Frank Cameron was called off after they learned they were brother and sister. The wedding ring was a peculiarly wrought golden circle, made from a $5 gold piece. Cameron's mother hard worn it. He showed it to Miss Hardy. She fainted. When she revived she told Cameron that she was his sister. She knew the history of the peculiar ring as well as Cameron did. Their father had given it to their mother when they were married. Both parents died soon after the two children were born and the latter had separated, the girl being adopted by a family named Hardy.

Mrs. Lawrence Simpson, who shot herself Sunday at Lexington, Ky., with her husband's revolver by accident, the family say, died yesterday at her country home. She was the daughter of Dr. William Wilder, of Chicago, and was a society girl there before she married Simpson, a wealthy turfman here, November 1, 1913. The family scouts the idea of suicide, claiming Mrs. Simpson was absolutely happy to her surroundings.

A laundry wagon driver, in whose pocket a card bearing the name of "F. Binnie," was found, was shot and instantly killed yesterday in Robeling street, Brooklyn. A well-dressed man stepped into the street where Binnie had stopped to deliver some laundry, drew two revolvers from his overcoat pockets and fired. Binnie fell dead. The horses taking fright at the noise, ran away and galloped for a mile with the body of the dead man bouncing about in the bed of the wagon. The murderer escaped.

Five priests were killed by a bomb explosion yesterday at Debreczin, Hungary, in the office of Bishop Miklosay, a prelate of the Greek Catholic church. The bishop, who is supposed to have been the object of the outrage, had a narrow escape. The victims included the bishop's vicar, whose daughter on hearing of her father's death became insane. The creation of a Greek Catholic diocese a year ago provoked much hostility.

GRAND BANQUET AT ELKS' HALL

GREAT ENTHUSIASM.

Vice-President Marshall, Senator Swanson Representative Carlin and Grand Master Bauman Speak.

The closing scenes in connection with the celebration of the anniversary of the birth of George Washington at Elks' Hall last night were of the usual interesting and enjoyable nature. The annual banquet of Alexandria-Washington lodge, over which Washington presided, was the last, but by no means the least interesting, feature of the festivities of the occasion. The banqueting hall had been tastefully decorated and the tables invitingly prepared by the ladies of Martha Washington Chapter No. 42, Order Eastern Star, who also acted as waitresses, and the 350 members of the lodge and their guests never experienced a more enjoyable time at a banquet table. The stage was filled with potted plants and ferns and in the rear was a heroic picture of the Father of the Country and Mount Vernon. The bust of the great Virginian as viewed from a distance was suggestive of the Sphynx with the stability looking down upon the present generation. Schroder's band was on hand to discourse animating music, and their selections were from "Songs that never grow old"—"Star Spangled Banner," "Dixie," "Suwanee River," "Maria's in the Cold, Cold Ground," etc.

After the close of the stated communication of Alexandria-Washington Lodge, which was held in the Elks' room on the upper floor, the members and their guests repaired to the banquet room on the second floor where the picture was dazzling. The tables had been beautifully and tastefully arranged and the ladies of the Eastern Star in colonial costumes, were ready for their guests.

After the company had taken places Worshipful Master C. B. Swan called the assembly to order when Rev. W. J. Morton, rector of Christ Church, invoked a blessing.

After all had been seated the ladies with marked alacrity, began to serve the courses, which were as follows:

* * * * * * * * * * * * *
* Oyster Cocktail *
* Olives Celery *
* Wafers *
* Fried Oysters *
* Mixed Pickles Cold Slaw *
* Cold Roast Turkey *
* Smithfield Ham *
* Cranberry Sauce *
* Chicken Salad Banquet Rolls *
* Salted Almonds *
* Ice Cream Fruit Cake *
* Roquefort Cheese Coffee. *
* Cigars *
* * * * * * * * * * * * *

Each member of the company had been provided with a souvenir—a cap—on which were the vignette of Washington, a star and other embellishments, which guests were requested to don

The shape of the caputical coverings were suggestive of crowns, although made of paper, and each wearer probably imagined his pulcritude was improved somewhat by this adjunct to banquet costume.

At the close of the feast, and after cigars had been distributed, the Worshipful Master again rapped the company to order, when the secretary A. G. Uhler, read telegrams from members of the craft in different portions of the United States and one from Constitutional Lodge, Beverley, England, regretting their inability to be present and expressing greetings.

The worshipful master subsequently thanked the ladies of the Eastern Star for their handiwork in preparing the feast and cordially welcomed all the ladies present.

He then called on Most Worshipful P. K. Bauman, Grand Master of Masons of Virginia, who made a brief but practical address. Among other things he spoke of Virginia hospitality celebrated from the days of Captain John Smith. The latch string, he said, was still on the outside. He expressed himself as pleased to be able to mingle with his Alexandria brethren around the festive board.

At the close of the grand master's address Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall was escorted into the roo and when he was introduced by Worshipful Master Swan enthusiasm was hearty and prolonged. It was several minutes before anything but cheers and yells could be heard. After order had been restored Mr. Marshall referred to the fact that he is a grandson of the Old Dominion and he was glad to be upon her soil in old Alexandria. The Vice-President called attention to the great men Virginia has given to the world and the part she has ever played in the affairs of the nation. He dwelt at length upon the mission of George Washington, who had caused such a revolution in the world's history by his warfare upon kingcraft. The speaker suggested that Washington's conception of the brotherhood of man could have been acquired but in his religion and Freemasonry, and spoke in a complimentary manne rof Past Master C. H. Callahan's book—Washington, the Man and the mason—a copy of which had been sent him by the author. Mr. Marshall's ready reference to the book showed he had studied it closely. Mr. Marshall referred to Jefferson, Hamilton and others who played prominent parts in the country's history and touched upon the civil war. He said while Virginia was proud of the stars and stripes they were ready at any time to place a wreath upon the tomb of Robert E. Lee. While the Vice-President occassionally opened a humorous vein, he was in the main pathetic, and at times spiritual, referring to the Grand Master of the Universe who upholdeth all things. The vice-president said he was a Presbyterian of the blue stocking mould, and believed what's to be will be, whether it takes place or not, which brought forth much laughter. In his reference to Masonry, the speaker called attention to the principles of the organization which knives and forks and Virginia hams should not cast into a partial eclipse.

Senator Claude A. Swanson was next introduced. He met with the same hearty greeting which he ever receives in his visits to Alexandria.

Mr. Swanson began by referring to the Vice-President, who is a grandson of the old Commonwealth of which her citizens were proud, and after some further pleasant references concerning Mr. Marshall and the sentiments he had uttered, the speaker gave a rapid resume of the country's history, especially the epoch during which George Washington figured, as well as in the state which gave him birth. He referred to the fact that while the great men who had appeared in the front at every era in the country's history were Virginian's they were in a broader sense Americans. Patrick Henry had exclaimed at the Philadelphia convention, "I'm not simply a Virginian; I'm American." Disgruntled royalty, he said, had viewed Washington with alarm, and the bombshell he had thrown into the ranks of royalty was apparent today. The senator referred to his trip to Mount Vernon yesterday and grew fervid in his picture of the great American sleeping upon the banks of the Potomac. The speaker became enthused when he alluded to the fact that the worth of Virginians was recognized today and that people of the Old Dominion were again at the helm of the ship of state.

Representative C. C. Carlin was then introduced by the Worshipful Master. Mr. Carlin paid a tribute to the ladies present, and said although he was not an advocate of woman suffrage if such a thing came to pass he would consider it an honor to nominate Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall for president. He was especially pointed in his praises of Alexandria women, and said heaven would be minus a great feature without them. Much of Mr. Carlin's remarks were in reference to the proposed Mount Vernon Avenue Memorial Bridge. His remarks were much enjoyed.

Messrs. George H. Evans, Wilmer J. Waller, Kenneth Ogden and J. Walter Humphrey enlivened the evening by the rendition of solos which were greatly enjoyed.

RETIRE JUDGES ON THREE-FIFTHS PAY

House Cuts Down Allowance Made in Bill Which Passed Senate.

SOME APPREHENSION.

Several Delegates Fear Action Will Prove Entering Wedge For a Large Pension List.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 24. — After two hours of debate the House of Delegates yesterday adopted a Senate bill for the optional requirement of judges of the Supreme Court of Appeals, the measure passed by the Senate being so amended as to make the requirement allowance $3,000 year. The contest was fiercely waged by those who looked upon this as the entering wedge for a general pension act for all judges, and possibly for all state employes. The act is optional with each judge, who may take advantage of the offer of retirement on reaching seventy years of age, after having served for twelve consecutive years on the Supreme Bench.

While all of the speakers agreed as to the high character and integrity of the present Court of Appeals, there were those who asserted that within the past few years the opinions have not had the same clearness and attention that was given them by those same judges some years ago.

Speakers who desired to avoid personal references to the pr[illegible] alluded to a time a few [illegible] back, when the court was mainly of old men, who had great ability in the days vigor, but whose opinions certainty in their later ye[illegible] who have more than once been reversed. It was stated that attorneys practicing in the courts today hesitate to cite as precedents the decisions of that period. The Senate passed tirement allowance $3,000 a year. Four-fifths pay. The House changed this to three-fifths and further provided that the rate should be fixed as under the act of 1912, which makes the pay of Supreme Court judges hereafter $5,000 a year, thus making the retirement allowance $3,00 a year. Four of the five judges of the Supreme Court have been on the Supreme bench continuously since 1895, when the old Rea juster Court went out of office and a new bench was elected by the Democratic General Assembly. Of these Judge Buchanan has already announced his determination to retire at the end of his present term, Feby. 1, 1915. The term of Judge Keith expires in 1917, and that of Judge Harrison in 1919.

JUDGE SCOTT SERIOUSLY ILL.'

Some Improvement, However, Noted Yesterday.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 24.—Judge R. Carter Scott, of the City Circuit continues ill at his home on East Franklin street. His condition was said to be very, very serious, but it was reported to be a little improved yesterday. He is suffering from a complication of ailments.

Though not feeling well for several months ,it was only a few days ago that Judge Scott was compelled to give up his active duties on the bench.

During his illness Judge Moncure of the Chancery Court, has been looking after his duties. Judge E. S. Turner, of Warrenton, who was designated by Governor Stuart Saturday, will arrive tomorrow to preside over the court.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Interesting News Notes About People of Alexandria—Happenings in Society.

Congressman and Mrs. Charles Creighton Carlin entertained at a brilliant reception yesterday at their home in north Washington street when the Vice President and Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall were the guests of honor.

The house, which was recently remodeled, making it one of the most beautiful homes in Alexandria, was adorned with flags, Richmond red roses, red carnations, and palms, and an orchestra played during the hours of the reception, from 5 till 7. More than 600 guests were present to meet the Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, who received with their hosts. Mr. C. Keith Carlin assisted his parents in receiving the guests. Mrs. Marshall wore a gown of violet satin and chiffon, with a tunic of lace and corsage bouquet of orchids. Mrs. Carlin, violet chiffon over old blue satin with a Medici collar and trimming of lace, a necklace of pearls, and a corsage of orchids. Mrs. W. F. McLallen, of Indiana, who is the house-guest of Mrs. Marshall, white lace with touches of black. Mrs. Claude A. Swanson, who presided over the punch bowl, wore white lace over flesh-colored chiffon combined with cloth of gold, with a bodice trimmed with rhinestones and touches of black tulle.

In the dining room, where the table had a centerpiece of white orchids, with a tree covered with Richmond roses rising in their midst, and the tapers in the candelabra capped with red shades, Mrs. William Wattles and Miss Broders, sister of the hostess, presided, the former serving ices and Miss Broders pouring tea. Among those assisting were Mrs. Charles Potts, of Ashland, Va., Miss Annie Macon Potts, Miss Virginia Potts, Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett, Mrs. Clarence Leadbeater, Mrs. Eva G. Mushbach, Miss Philippa Wattles, Miss Minnie Henderson, Miss Harriett Douglas, Miss Mary Phillips, Miss Katherine Steele Barrett, Miss Alice Anderton, Miss Sophie Tackett, Mrs. T. Nelson Conrad, Miss Esther Burke, Miss Josephine Broders, of Warrenton, Va.; Miss Rose MacDonald, and Miss Anna Barley. The guests included many from the official world of Washington, among whom were the Secretary of State and Mrs. Bryan, the Secretary of War, the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, and Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt, and Senator Swanson and several hundred members of the official and society set of Alexandria.

Mrs. Beverley Randolph Mason entertained Saturday afternoon at a large reception for the pupils of Gunston Hall, in Washington, D. C. The house was exquisitely decorated with smilax and spring flowers, yellow predominating. An orchestra played throughout the afternoon. Receiving with Mrs. Mason were her daughters, Mrs. Moffett, Mrs. Patchin and the Misses Mason. In addition to the ladies of the school and house-guests assisting were Mrs. Albert Mills, Mrs. Ryan Devereux, Mrs. James Monroe Love, Mrs. Robert Heth, Mrs. William B. Mason, Mrs. Hunter Moss, Jr., Mrs. Davis Wills, Mrs. B. H. Fuller, Mrs. and Miss Clagett Mrs. John Brooks Ladd, Mrs. Taylor Burke, of Alexandria, Miss Margaret Worthington, Miss Phyllis Moore, Miss Sallie Ovenshine and Miss Beatrice Crawford.

Mr. A. R. R. Onyun, formerly Alexandria correspondent of the Washington Times, and now connected with the advertising department of that paper, and Miss Sarah F. Phillips, of the circulation department of the Times, were married in this city last Saturday night by Rev. J. Lee Allison, D. D., pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church.

Philosophy and a Moral

I know there are philosophers whose mission is to teach

Plans for Masonic Temple in honor of Washington Discussed Today

Today's session of the George Washington Masonic Memorial Association which is holding its fourth annual meeting in the Masonic Temple, Alexandria, was largely devoted to a discussion of plans for the raising of the million dollars which will be the probable cost of the temple to be erected to honor the memory of Washington as a Mason. A number of plans were discussed and later on a definite programe will be mapped out. The Representatives from the various jurisdictions are confident that it will be an easy proposition to raise the money once the start is made. The financing of the proposition will be left in the hands of a committee of which Clarence P. King, of Washington, is the chairman.

At yesterday's session John H. Cowles, of Washington, secretary general of the Supreme Council Scottish Rite Masons, was elected treasurer to succeed Dana J. Flanders, of Massachusets, who has resigned.

The following additional delegates arrived yesterday: W. J. Hull, past grand master, Nebraska; George A Beauchamp, grand secretary, Alabama; R. T. W. Duke, past grand master, Virginia; Charles A. Nesbitt, grand secretary, Virginia; W L. Williamson, grand master, North Dakota; W. M. Ferrett, grand master, Michigan; James E. Dillon, past grand master, Michigan; Halfdan Bendeke, past grand master; John H. Cowles, past grand master, of Kentucky; H. K. Simpson, grand commander, Knights Templar of the District of Columbia.

The association completed its work and adjourned at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

ACCIDENTS YESTERDAY.

Only Minor Mishaps Notwithstanding Immense Throng and Slippery Conditions.

There was an ambulance in the procession yesterday and soldiers carried stretchers in order to afford immediate assistance in the event of accidents. Number of men and women slipped and fell during the afternoon, they having trodden upon ice which had been but thinly veneered by the falling snow. In most cases no injury followed, and the parties who suffered such mishaps took them good-naturedly.

A cavalryman connected from Ft Myer fell from his horse on King street and dislocated his right hip.

John O. Snaw, of 1208 I street N. W. Washington, broke his leg in three places by slipping on the ice.

F. H. Schneider fell on the ice near the corner of King and Fairfax street, and broke his arm.

George Pymouth, who is employed at the government printing office and who has many friends and acquaintences here, fellf rom the truck of the Relief Hook and Ladder Co. and broke his leg. He is at the Alexandria Hospital.

SAMARIAN REBEKAH LODGE

Samarian Rebekah Lodge will hold their regular meeting tonight in their hall at 7:30 o'clock. All members are urged to be present. The members of the organization who are Lady Maccabees, after the close of the meeting, will go to the residence of Mrs. McMenamin, to a reception to be given in their honor.

The marriage was the culmination of an eight-years' romance. Mr. and Mrs. Onyun are at home at 602 Keeser Place, N. W., Washington.

Miss Marian R. Jenkeyn, of Harrisburg, Pa., and Miss Nan C O'Neil, of Wilmington, Del., have returned home after spending several ways with Miss Esther Heisley, in south Fairfax street.

UNITED STATES COURT

Special Term Opens in Alexandria Today to Hear Condemnation Proceedings

A special term of the United States Court for the eastern district of Virginia, with Judge Edmund Waddill, Jr., of Richmond, presiding, was opened at 11 o'clock today for the purpose of hearing the condemnation proceedings instituted by the commissioners of the District of Columbia against a number of property owners of Fairfax county. The commissioners desire to obtain the land for a reformatory. The tract is located near Occoquan and contains 1358 acres. The government is represented by D. Lawrence Groner, district attorney, of Norfolk, Va., and Hiram Smith, assistant district attorney, of Richmond, Va. The property owners are represented by Judge J. K. M. Norton and Samuel G. Brent, of Alexandria: The following special jury has been summoned: George K. Pickett, Dr. W. P. Taylor, H. A. Whallon, C. J. Ives, William H. Duncan, B. A. Way, W. A. Gamer, Robert Sullivan, C. T. Clarke, Henry Meanley, William J. Rogers, Robert E. Miller, A. J. Eggborn, George W. Grayson, C. F. Hicks, J. F. Ryan, B. D. Wessells, Thomas A. Williams and J. A. Nicol.

DRIVER'S NARROW ESCAPE.

Colored Man About to Freeze to Death—Rescued and Taken to Hospital.

Thomas Mitchell, colored, of this city, was about to freeze to death on the road between Alexandria and Washington last night when found by a resident of the county. Mitchell left this city in charge of a horse and carriage to carry visitors back to the capital city. He transported the passengers to their homes and started on his return to Duncan's stables and when some distance from this city, became numbed by the severe cold and fell off the vehicle in the road. A resident of the county found Mitchell and placing him in the carriage hurried him to the Alexandria Hospital where he received treatment.

BURGLAR MEETS DOGS.

Has Fight for Life With Powerful Canines in Meat Shop.

At a late hour last night, while snow was falling and the weather bitter cold, an individual, whom the police are anxious to identify, determined to break into a meat shop conducted by John Metcalfe, at 129 South Fairfax street. The big dogs, one of the bull species, are kept in the shop for the reception of undesirable nocturnal visitors, and from conditions in the place early this morning it looked as though the thief met with a warm reception after he had broken a large pane of glass in the show window and entered the shop. Blood could be seen on the glass and snow on the pavement, and the dogs bore evidence of having been cut, but not seriously injured.

The money in the till had not been disturbed, nor had anything been removed from the shop.

COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the City Council will be held tonight. Only business of a general nature is expected to be introduced.

SAY GOODBYE TO CONSTIPATION AND SICK HEADACHE.

Calomel Out of a Job Since Hot Springs Liver Buttons Arrived in Town.

No reason on earth why any one in this town should put up with a lazy, stubborn, mean or rebellious liver, since wonderful HOT SPRINGS LIVER BUTTONS are in every drug store here.

Forget about calomel right now, better throw it in the ash heap along with your pills, salts, oils and other makeshifts. You won't want any more to do with any of them once you give blissful, gentle HOT SPRINGS LIVER BUTTONS a chance.

They surely are a great blessing to old people and women who suffer from chronic constipation. They are so joyfully satisfying and leave no bad after effects.

Take them for what the doctors of Hot Springs prescribe them. For constipation, nervousness, clogged liver, upset stomach, dizziness, sick headache, nervousness, malaria, laziness, lack of appetite, absence of ambition, and for sallow and pimply skin. Their action will prove a happy revolation to you.

Attractive Afternoon Dresses Special for the Anniversary Sale, $9.75

Very modish dresses, and those who desire tasteful and attractive new styles, with much distinctive individuality, will be interested in this splendid assortment of Afternoon and Street Dresses which we have priced at $9.75, the same representing a saving that is hard to estimate on account of its usefulness.

French Serges, Crepes, Poplins, and White Serges have been beautifully developed and finished with various color contrasts of silk and messaline, both plain and fancy.

All these dresses are made along the same general lines with the new tunic skirts and attractive waists, but many different styles of tunics are represented, in single and double flounce arrangements that furnish each dress with individuality and becomingness. The waists are made with the new corded seam yokes and attractively trimmed with laces and fancy collars; set-in sleeves and drop shoulders finished with dainty cuffs to match the collars.

Sizes 14 to 40 may be had in these splendid dresses suitable for afternoon, street and practical wear, in black, navy blue, brown, gray, copenhagen and cream. These dresses are easily worth $15.00 and $20.00. On sale in both women's and misses' sections. Anniversary price $9.75 each. Third Floor.

ALEXANDRIA'S GREAT FETE DAY.

It was supposed early yesterday morning that the flying snow would cause a check to the enthusiasm incident to the outdoor exercises of the celebration of George Washington's birthday, but, on the contrary, the frigid conditions seemed to augment the patriotism of most people, especially the younger generation. Some of the little ones had never witnessed this peculiarly Alexandria turnout, several years having elapsed since the day was celebrated by outdoor exercises.

It is generally agreed that the entire affair was one of the most spectacular and enjoyable ever given in this city, and notwithstanding the snow flakes fell thick and fast and the temperature was low, those who participated as well as those who looked on were enthused, regarding meteorological conditions as a matter of secondary importance.

The scenes in the streets, especially at the reveiwing stand, were animating, and the fact that we had the President and Vice President with us added no little to the spirit of the occasion.

The realization that a Virginian is in the White House and a grandson of a Virginian is presiding over the United States Senate in his capacity as Vice President gave great pith to the occasion.

The curtain was rung down on the final act of the festivities at Elks' Hall shortly after eight o'clock last night when the annual banquet of Alexandria-Washington Lodge began. The Vice President, Senator Swanson, Representative Carlin Grand Master Bauman and many others mingled with their Alexandria brethren, as did George Washington over a century ago. The scenes at the banquet as well as the utterances of the speakers sent thrills through the present generation while they gazed upon a huge picture of the Father of His Country and his home at Mount Vernon.

Among the pleasant incidents was the receipt of a dispatch from Constitutional Lodge, Beverley, Eng. sending congratulations to their Alexandria brethren.

WILL PRACTICE LAW.

Former Governor Mann Opens Offices in Richmond.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 24.—Law offices are being furnished up on the ninth floor of the Mutual building, which are to be occupied from now on by former Governor William Hodges Mann and his son, William Hodges Mann, Jr. Since his recent retirement from public office, the former Governor of Virginia, has returned to his old home in Petersburg, but he has at the same time opened up law offices in Richmond which he visits daily.

Judge Mann has not been a frequent visitor to the legislative halls since his retirement from office, but he is kept pretty closely in touch with affairs as they exist in and about the General Assembly by members who call upon him almost daily.

The offices opened up by Former Governor Mann are at No. 924 Mutual building, and are those utilized for many years by Lieutenant-Governor J. Taylor Ellyson. The offices have just been vacated by the Lieutenant-governor and Judge Mann and his son are being installed.

FIVE BURNED IN EXPLOSION.

Man And Four Children Injured, One Fatally.

Strasburg, Va., Feb. 24.—A can of kerosene, a smoldering fire and a desire to hasten lunch caused the serious burning of James Lake, two of his children and two of his nephews Sunday afternoon. One child, aged about five years, was fatally burned; two others received burns which cover more than half their bodies, and Mr. Lake was badly burned about the hands in attempting to extinguish the children's clothing. One child was blown through the kitchen window by the explosion and escaped with a few bruises.

MAN DROWNED.

Husband of Three Months Had Been Seeking Work.

Luray, Va., Feb. 24.—Charles Dovel, aged about 22 years, was drowned yesterday in the Shenandoah river, 18 miles south of here. In a blinding snowstorm the river was dragged all day for Dovel's body, which has not been found.

Dovel, in company with his brother-in-law, Herman Hensley, had been to Grove Hill seeking employment. Starting back across the river, which was swollen, the boat became unmanageable. In attempting to steer to the shore the boat capsized.

Dovel had been married only three months. He was a son of Clinton Dovel of this county.

RACE WAR IN MISSISSIPPI.

Further Fighting Likely to Follow Killing of Three Persons.

Tunica, Miss., Feb. 24.—A race war is in full blast near Robinsville as a result of the shooting of Morris Love, white man, and two negroes. Further fighting is expected.

Two negroes were arrested and brought here, while a posse with bloodhounds is searching for other negroes who were implicated in the indictment that started the trouble.

Between forty and fifty negroes, dangerous from drink, gathered at the home of William Beasley, where a "voodoo doctor" from Memphis exhorted them to rise against the whites.

A posse was sent to the scene, but was driven off. After re-enforcements were received the negroes were driven from the building and it was burned. Deputy sheriffs and volunteers started to run down the ring leaders. There were several fights and it was during these that the three men were killed.

A Neglected Cold Often Affects the Lungs

Many serious cases of Throat or Lung Trouble can be directly traced to a cough or cold, which has been neglected. If you have a cough, don't delay, don't cling to it, don't waste time and neglect trying to stop this supposed trivial trouble—the throat and lungs become affected, in many cases Beyond Alteration before the means of bringing permanent relief are investigated. Read the case:—

Sweetser, N. Y.

"Gentlemen: For five or six years I was troubled with cough and expectoration. I also had a high fever. My case was diagnosed Lung Trouble by my physician. I was given Cod Liver Oil, Creosote and other medicines, all without benefit. At Christmas time, 1909, I was not expected to live. Calling Dr. H. H. McCarthy, he purchased the case of Eckman's Alterative, which I took with excellent results. I have gained in weight, I go out in all weathers and have had no cough or cold whatever. I gives these facts to encourage others to use Eckman's Alterative."

(Affidavit) JAS. W. KANALY.

Eckman's Alterative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious for severe Throat and Lung Affections, Bronchitis, Bronchial Asthma, Stubborn Colds and in upbuilding the system. Contains no narcotics, poisons or habit-forming drugs. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries, and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for evidence. For sale by all leading druggists.

NEWS OF THE OLD DOMINION

MEETING OF EDUCATORS.

Three Thousand Delegates Will Attend Convention Tonight.

Richmond, Feb. 24.—Educators of nation-wide fame from practically every State in the Union arrived in Richmond to attend the convention of the department of education, National Education Association, and allied organizations, which opens in the city auditorium tonight. It was estimated that fully 2,500 delegates were in the city today. Five hundred more are expected to arrive.

The convention proper will not get under way until tomorrow night, but two separate meetings of the allied associations were held last night.

The following subjects will be discussed tonight:

"Health Problems of the American Public School," "Plans for Promoting Improvement in the Sanitation of Rural Schools," and "Supervision and Care of Personal Health of Pupils in Rural Schools."

MONTAGUE IN BALTIMORE.

Former Governor of Virginia Also Declares Democracy Needs More Publicity.

Baltimore, Feb. 24.—Former Governor Montague, of Virginia, made a striking figure on the platform at the Johns Hopkins commemoration exercises. He spoke for an hour without manuscript and with the aid of only a few notes on a card. His delicate irony—as when he referred to former President Roosevelt as "a gentleman of tumultuous genius and almost superhuman energy"—brought frequent ripples of laughter from his audience.

His talk ranged from a contrasting of what he called "the simple life" of Washington's time with "the varied and multiform and multiplied" problems of today to the suggestion that members of the President's Cabinets be given seats on the floors of Congress to explain their policies, Senators and Representatives to have the right to question them.

In the course of this address he paused to pay his respects to the initiative and the referendum, the recall and the review of judicial decisions, the last of which he declared one of the most dangerous tendencies of the times.

TWO BURNED TO DEATH.

Two Others Dying, Result of Fire, Which Destroys Home.

Winchester, Va., Feb. 4.—In a fire Saturday night, which destroyed their home, another residence and threatened the Methodist Episcopal Church and other buildings at Bunker Hill, Berkeley county, W. Va., Mrs. Belle Parker, was burned to a crisp, her daughter, Viola, died yesterday from burns, and her sons, Floyd and Lewis, are dying in hospitals. Two others who were burned probably will recover. This makes eight deaths from fire in this section within a week.

Mrs. Emma Turner, who lives near Winchester, was severely burned while lighting an oil stove.

TALE OF BURIED TREASURE.

Hunter Finds Note Telling of Money Hidden in Courthouse.

Winchester, Va., Feb. 24.—A report that $10,000 had been located in the foundation of the historic old courthouse of Shenandoah County, at Woodstock, last week, set the country seat people almost on their heads a day or two ago, and they are still wondering whether the rumors of buried treasure can possibly be true. A young man who was hunting in the mountains found an old gun, which upon being picked up, fell in two. In the stock was a note, stating that the owner of the gun during the Civil War had hurriedly secreted $10,000 under some boards in the western part of the courthouse cellar, and that the finder of the gun could have the money. Thus far, however, the authorities have not permitted any one to excavate under the courthouse, but many people are still on the tiptoe of expectancy, hoping he or she will be the first to be privileged to go into the cellar with pick and shovel.

STEAMER ASHORE.

Revenue Cutters Driven Back by Storms in Efforts to Save Ship.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 24.—Pounding hard on a treacherous coast, the British steamer Sachem, which went ashore Sunday near Hog Island, is in a dangerous condition. The revenue cutters Onondaga and Itasca and the tug I. J. Merritt succeeded in pulling the big steamer a few feet off the beach yesterday but a high northeast storm drove the vessel back.

The big towing hawsers were parted by the fury of the gale and the rescue craft had to hurry out to deep water to keep away from the treacherous shoals.

The Sachem is a freight and passenger steamer. It could not be learned if there are any passengers on board, but Wilthy and Furness, her agents here, say she is not a tramp steamer as first reported.

She was at the mercy of a severe gale last night, accompanied by a blinding snow storm, the worst of the winter.

The steamer Riverdale, which was stranded Friday night near Little Island, was higher than ever on the beach last night.

The President's yacht, Mayflower, with a detachment of enlisted men on board, was unable to sail yesterday for Mexico on account of the storm.

An unknown schooner is ashore near Craney Island, and the tug Reliance is standing by her.

Thomas L. Moore is Ill.

Roanoke, Va., Feb. 24.—Thomas Lee Moore, former United States district attorney for the Western district of Virginia, and State chairman of the Progressive forces in the last presidential campaign, is critically ill at his home in this city. He was paralyzed Saturday afternoon while on a street car.

"GETS-IT" FOR CORNS ON YOUR PIGGY-WIGGIES!

A few drops of "GETS-IT", the biggest seller in the world today of any corn remedy, is enough to spell positive doom to the fiercest corn that ever cemented itself to a toe. It's good-bye Johnnie. You apply "GETS-IT" in two seconds—no fussing with plasters that don't stay put, with salves that make corn "pull" and make the toe beefy and raw, with knives, scissors, razors and diggers that make corns grow faster and that may cause blood poison from corn-cutting and corn-bleeding. "GETS-IT" shrivels up the corns, they come right off. That's the new principle. It's just common sense. No more corn-pains. "GETS-IT" is safe, and never hurts the flesh. Get rid of corns and calluses.

"GETS-IT" is sold at 25c a bottle by all druggists, or sent direct if you wish, from E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago. (37).

THREE KILLED IN EXPLOSIONS

Coal Oil Becomes Ignited in Two Homes Near Martinsburg.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Feb. 24.—Three persons were killed, three others dangerously and five less seriosly injured in two coal oil explosions in this county Sunday.

Mrs. Alvin W. Shade, of Glengary, attempted to kindle a fire Sunday with coal oil, and in the explosion that followed her clothing was ignited. Before her husband could extinguish the blaze she was so badly injured that she died a few hours later. The husband was severely burned and their little daughter slightly injured. Mrs. Shade was a daughter of Joshua Whitacre, of De Haven, Va.

About the same hour an explosion occurred at the home of Robert Parker, colored, in Bunker Hill, when his wife, Belle Parker, attempted to fill a lighted lamp. The oil ignited the woman's clothing and set fire to the house. The woman was burned to death and one daughter, aged 7 years, received injuries from which she died in a few hours. Two other children were probably fatally burned.

Defending a $10,000 shipment of currency, Henry Edwards, cashier in the office of the Wells-Fargo Express Co., at Corning, New York, was shot and killed yesterday by David Dunn, a former employe of the company. Dunn was arrested. Dunn demanded that Edwards open the safe. He refused. Dunn drew a revolver and shot. Knowing of the consignment of money, police headquarters called up the Wells-Fargo office at intervals to see if everything was all right. After Edwards had been killed. Dunn answered the two telephone calls, impersonating the cashier. Nothing was stolen.

A REAL NERVE AND BODY-BUILDING MEDICINE.

We believe Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion is the best remedy made for toning the nerves, enriching the blood, building up wasted tissues, renewing health, strength and energy—the best medicine you can use if you are run down, tired-out, nervous and debilitated, no matter what the cause. It doesn't depend for it's good effect upon alcohol, or habit-forming drugs, because it contains none. It may not make you feel better in a few hours, but it will make you feel better, we are sure, just as soon as the tonic and food properties it contains have a chance to get into the blood and, through the blood, into the rest of the system. Pure Olive Oil and the Hypophosphites have long been endorsed by successful physicians, but here, for the first time, they are combined into one preparation which, as a nerve-food and a builder of strength and health, we believe, has no equal.

If you don't feel well, begin taking Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion today, and build your health and strengthen your system against more serious illness. To convalescents, old people, puny children, and all others who are weak run down or ailing, we offer Rexall Olive Oil Emulsion with our personal promise that, if it doesn't make you well and strong again, it will cost you nothing. If we didn't have the utmost faith in it, we wouldn't offer it with this guarantee, nor even recommend it to you. We are sure that once you have used it you will recommend it to your friends, and thank us for having recommended it to you. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Etore, and in this town by Wm. P. Taylor, druggist, 616 King street.
